Located in the heart of Indiana, just minutes from downtown
Indianapolis and the Indianapolis International Airport.

Join us for the Second National Symposium on Sustainability in Corrections in Plainfield, IN (right outside of Indianapolis) October 29 – Nov 1, 2012. Building on the success of our inaugural event in June of 2011, GreenPrisons will provide the ONLY national, in-depth discussion of the utilization of sustainable products and services in the corrections profession.

This year's event will feature more workshops, more national presenters, more exhibitors and much more information. GreenPrisons has once again partnered with the Indiana Department of Correction to bring you this unparalleled event. In addition to symposium workshops you don't want to miss the institution tour to see sustainability at work.

Our new location this year makes it more economical to attend than ever before with reduced lodging costs, free parking at the hotels and at the symposium venue and a free shuttle to and from the Indianapolis airport less than 10 minutes away. Registration fees for participants and exhibitors remain the same as last year with increased networking events and two lunches planned during the event.
